COUNTY INDEPENDENT CALL.

The Independents of Jackson county have issued the following call for a County Convention to be held Thursday, May 14th:

HOW THE STRAIGHTOUTS GET ALONG IN POLK COUNTY.

Rickreall, May 8, 1874.

To the Editor of the Oregonian:

The battle is waxing hot in this part of the [illegible], and, as the merry month of June draws nigh, the people are preparing for the final contest. Final, because at that time the fate of the old [illegible], and of the men who have always been such sticklers for party, but who are now willing to unite like a band of loving brothers, to defeat this movement, will be decided. They are becoming uneasy already, and by sneers and ridicule they are doing what they can to heap contumely upon the Independent cause. They lose sight of the motto Vox populi, vox Dei, and this is peculiarly the voice of the people. It means liberty from men who would stoop to conquer. It means economy and general improvement. It means that the farmers, the bone and sinew of the country, are tired of being ruled (and ruined) by old political tricksters, who would sacrifice principle, honor and honesty for the spoils of office. Look at Douglas county! Have they not sacrificed principle if they had any there? By coalition they intend to try to defeat the people. Will they do it? That is the question and it is a faint echo that answers [illegible] but a voice that throws terror into their ranks. They are in the last throes of death and I would suggest that Dr. Dempsey be sent for immediately and that he prescribe a large dose of 'slippery elm scraped upwards.' The Doctor recommends this as a drastic purgative and I think it would work them out entirely, that is, out of the country and into total oblivion. If it did not do this, it would remove the bile from [illegible] them to see their perilous [illegible] light, also to understand [illegible] that though hand join [illegible] shall not go unpunished. Believing that right will triumph over all else, I subscribe myself

PROCEEDINGS EXTRAORDINARY.

Astoria, May 8, 1874.

To the Editor of the Oregonian:

A meeting of the Common Council of the city of Astoria, Oregon, was held in Astoria May 5, 1874. The Board consists of the following persons, viz: Mayor, W. F. Kippen; Councilmen—C. H. Page, G. Reed, John Hobson, W. W. Parker, C. S. Wright and F. Ferrell. It may be as well to state in partial explanation of the action of the Board, that the Mayor himself is the proprietor of a liquor saloon, as is also Councilman C. S. Wright, and that Councilman Page is employed in the wholesale liquor business. That a majority of the remaining Councilmen are in sympathy with the liquor sellers is evident from the following report of the meeting.

After the calling of the roll, the first business in order was announced to be the presenting and reading of petitions.

A petition signed by N. Koffed and twenty eight others, asking that a license to sell spirituous liquors in less quantities than one quart be granted him, was then read, and Councilman Page moved that a license be granted to N. Koffed according to his petition. His motion being seconded, Councilman Parker presented a remonstrance signed by fifty five persons against granting a license to said Koffed and stated that, according to the law of Oregon regarding liquor license if the remonstrance bore the names of more legal voters of the corporation than the petition for license did the Council could not grant such license.

Councilman Page said that to take so much money out of the city treasury by refusing to license liquor selling, which is a legitimate business, would be perfectly ridiculous, and he proceeded to cite a decision of the Supreme Court of Oregon regarding the city of Portland, in which it was declared that the city charter giving its Board of Councilmen full power to "license, regulate or suppress groceries and other nuisances," virtually repealed the State law as far as the city of Portland was concerned. He then called for the question.

Councilman Parker thereupon read an ordinance of the town of Astoria in force since 1856, which distinctly says, in substance, that in relation to granting retail liquor licenses the Board of Trustees of the town of Astoria shall act in strict accordance with the State laws on the subject. He moved, therefore that the names on the petition and remonstrance now before the Council be canvassed.

Councilman Page said that a motion was already before the Council and again called for the question. The Mayor was proceeding to put the original motion in the face of all objection when Councilman Parker interrupted him by asking if the Board would stultify itself by granting this license without even ascertaining whether the larger number of legal voters of the corporation had signed the remonstrance or the petition. He said the Council could not grant any license where a remonstrance against it was signed by a greater number of legal voters than the petition could show unless they first repealed the ordinance he had just read. Councilman Wright then moved that the license and remonstrance then under discussion be laid upon the table until they could be canvassed. His motion being seconded and the Mayor putting it to vote, it was carried, Mayor Kippen adding: "The Recorder will issue the license." Councilman Parker explained that the Mayor labored under a mistake (?) that it was not the original motion that had just been carried but Councilman Wright's motion to lay the petition and remonstrance on the table till canvassed. The Mayor seemed loth to yield the point, and some confusion ensued which might have been avoided by a word from Councilman Wright, but he remained silent. At length Councilman Page moved that further action on the subject be postponed to an adjourned meeting of the Council to be held on the following evening. Motion carried but not before the petition and remonstrance had been so far examined by Councilman Parker and the Recorder as to show a legal majority of at least three on the remonstrance.

A petition was also presented at this meeting by Wm. F. Kippen (Mayor of Astoria) asking for a renewal of his license to sell spirituous liquors at retail, which was granted, his petition showing a majority of names of citizens over those on the remonstrance also presented against him. No objection was made by the Council to having the last named petition and remonstrance canvassed thoroughly.

The day following the above reported meeting N. Koffed attempted to withdraw his petition and on the Recorder refusing to allow him to do this he drew up a new petition, obtained twelve more names (two illegal) and presented his new petition at the meeting of the Council in the evening as an amendment to his original one. The Council decided that his proceedings were regular (with one dissenting voice) and granted a license to Mr. Koffed, as he now had a majority of legal voters on his petition over those on the remonstrance. The august body then proceeded to other business having come out of the battle victorious with only the trifling loss of their self respect.

THE RENTAL QUESTION AGAIN.

SECRETARY CHADWICK'S SIDE OF THE CONTROVERSY.

Salem, May 10, 1874.

To the Editor of the Oregonian:

In your issues of the 7th and 8th General Coffin, one of the owners of the Opera House makes known his displeasure at Secretary Chadwick's refusal to rent rooms therein for the State. I have not set out to justify personal or party favoritism in this matter of rents or any other at the expense of the State but to correct some errors into which Gen. Coffin has fallen in his anxiety to rent his property or his anger at having failed to rent it. He says C. A. Reed offered Secretary Chadwick all the second and third stories of the Opera House for $1,800 a year. The fact is the theatre occupies nearly all the second and third stories and that portion offered Mr. Chadwick comprised but three rooms—two at the head of the theatre stairs and adjacent to its entrance (so near that there would be danger of the legislature and negro minstrel shows getting mixed) and the third at the head of an almost perpendicular flight of stairs on the third floor. This room is very inaccessible, and, when reached, so inconvenient that no Court would have retained it for it was offered for library, Supreme Court room, &c. The rooms are wholly inadequate for the public offices, legislative halls, &c., and totally unfit. Likewise owing to its imperfect construction a portion of the building has cracked badly and attempts have been made to secure it by small bolts, notwithstanding which the opinion is prevalent that it will some day fall. Further, if the opera rooms were not so insufficient and unfit it would cost the State some $2,000 to move safes, &c., and fit up.

But I am authentically informed that Mr. C. A. Reed offered Mr. Chadwick even better terms than Gen. Coffin names; that he offered him a $10,000 interest in the Opera House—$9,000 in stock and $1,000 in cash—if he would rent the rooms for the State, and that Mr. Chadwick replied—not that he was under political obligations to his friends—that he was not building opera houses for the State. It appears that the prior Secretary, May, had before the building was up contracted for rent for State offices at $2,000 per year and was to issue State warrants and advance this sum to carry on the work. One warrant of $700 was drawn and went into that building for which the State has received nothing. The present Secretary succeeding to the office before the removal could be made, it was never accomplished. Two Legislatures have been in session since the May contract, yet neither have thought proper to accept of Reed's or Coffin's proffer. In 1872 Mr. Reed appeared before the Republican House with his proposition, but knowing the character of the rooms no action was taken.

General Coffin states the case thus:

Joseph Holman, rent per annum	$2,000
Grover & Miller	1,320
Total	$3,320

To swell this amount to $4,300, General C. adds wrongfully room of Grover & Miller (for Capitol Commissioners), $360; Griswold, $120 and Patton $180 (for committees and rented only during the session), and Watkinds & Dearborn $320. This last room is used as office of Clerk of Supreme Court, and the rent is paid on the order of that Court. So, for $3,320 per annum Secretary Chadwick rents 14 rooms and 1 arsenal, used for State purposes. Compare this rent with that asked by Gen. Coffin for his 3 rooms and 14 will be found to cost $7,000. At the figure they were rented by May 14 would cost $9,333.32.

There is little doubt there was a scheme to fasten the unfinished and unfortunate Opera House upon the State through May, which failed as he too soon went out of office, and that once occupied the rents were to be increased and money thus raised to lift it out of the slough of debt into which it had fallen. I have none but feelings of sympathy for its then and now owners and should be glad to see them accomplish it. But the building if finished could offer no fit accommodation for the State's business discoverable through any but interested eyes.

I do not know that the rents now paid by the State are not too high or proportionally higher than are paid by private persons for similar accommodations. But certainly, taken altogether they are more suitable than any other to be obtained in town. And the sum now being paid for them is the same that has ever heretofore been paid by Secretary Chadwick and his predecessors.

FACTS.

THE INDEPENDENT CONVENTION OF CLACKAMAS.

The Secretary of the Independent Convention of Clackamas county has kindly furnished us the following report:

Oregon City, May 9, 1874.

Pursuant to a call by the Chairman of a previous Convention the Independent voters of Clackamas county assembled to-day at the Court House in this city to nominate a county ticket. The meeting was well attended and the utmost harmony prevailed. All expressed great satisfaction with the nominations, and resolved the ticket should be elected.

The meeting was called to order by W. W. Buck, who proceeded to make some remarks touching the past history of the political parties and of the urgent need of a political reform; that it was high time the people were up and doing to put down this corruption in the administration of our public affairs caused by party politics that is now oppressing the people and jeopardizing the welfare of our country, and it was to this end that they had gathered together here to-day. And for that purpose we would now proceed to the nomination of a ticket to be elected by the freemen of Clackamas county on the first Monday of June next to administer the public affairs for the next term.

Upon motion of W. A. Starkweather, Jas. Winston was chosen Secretary.

The following list of nominees were all chosen by acclamation with but one exception, that of School Superintendent, who was chosen by ballot. [We have already announced the ticket.—Ed. Oregonian.]

No further business offering, on motion the Convention adjourned.

There is quite an extent of fine timber land at the head of the bay near Tacoma and loggers have been looking up with eager eyes for some time past. The townsite company have a number of propositions for the cutting of about four million feet of saw logs on their land in there.

The contract which was let to Bentley & Wilson at the April term of the County Court to build a bridge across the Umatilla river at Pendleton has been stopped by an injunction filed at the April term of Circuit Court. The proposed bridge would have required 50,000 feet of lumber and about 5,000 lbs of iron, and would have cost $3,800 in county orders.

Mr. Jno. Jackson, of Victoria, B. C., was in Umatilla during last week. He has bought 700 three mutton sheep of Messrs. Bowman and Cram, paying therefor $2.30 per head. He also bought 400 of Jacob Frazer at $2 per head. He will start for Victoria with about 400 of them as soon as they are sheared. Mr. J. bought about $5,000 worth of sheep in this county last summer for the same market.

The annual meeting of the Jackson County Agricultural Society was held pursuant to notice at the Court House in Jacksonville on Saturday, May 2, 1874. The Democrat learns that weekly mail service has been ordered on the new mail route from Baker to Canyon City, and that Messrs. Grier & Kellogg will, as soon as their bond is approved, proceed to performing the service. The wants of the people along the line in Grant and Baker counties, over which this route passes, will in a measure be supplied. It would be better if the service was twice or three times a week.

The Pendleton Tribune of last Saturday says: The cattle growers of Birch creek and vicinity made a large rodero on Tutuilla willow on Thursday last. There were about seventy men present. Yesterday they went to make another on McKay creek. This should be practiced at least twice a year, as it enables people to find their stock without much traveling—and they are not so liable to lose by estraying. We should think it would, but are not sure as we haven't the most remote idea what Rodero is.

On the proposition of the Commissioners of Thurston county to tax the Northern Pacific Railroad in their county, Judge Dennison gives it as his opinion "that Congress intended to grant and did grant to said Company a way to the extent of two hundred feet in width on each side of the railroad with the appurtenances, and that said way, including all station buildings, work shops, switches, turn tables, water stations and other structures and improvements within the designated limits in the Territories are exempt from taxation."

The Pendleton Tribune says: Some time since at the request of the citizens of Pendleton, Surveyor General Odell, of Oregon, appointed Wm. J. Campbell, of the Dalles, to survey and make a plat of Wild Horse creek in Umatilla county, and to run the boundary line between the town of Pendleton and the Umatilla Indian Reservation. Mr. Campbell arrived in town a few days since and on Wednesday proceeded to take testimony as to where the mouth of Wild Horse creek was. As there were but few whites in the county at the time the treaty was made in 1855, but little testimony was taken except that of Indians. Mr. Campbell is to make a survey and plat of the mouth of Wild Horse and run a line from the point where the citizens claim to be the mouth to the southeast corner of W. C. McKay's donation land claim and to take testimony to establish the exact point where the mouth of Wild Horse creek is.

Mr. Wilson on the Massachusetts Senatorial Election.—Vice President Wilson has written a letter to Col. John W. Forney explaining his position on the recent Senatorial contest in Massachusetts. He says he had nothing to do with breaking the dead lock, as he did not influence the vote of a single member. From the time that he saw the temper of the contest he would have rejoiced to have had the friends of Dawes and Hoar unite and elect Charles Francis Adams to the Senate because he continues, his large experience would be of value to the country that needs—in its high positions—all the tried and trained statesmen it can command. Then I should rejoice to have the veteran anti-Slavery men called into the service of the State or Nation. Their ranks are thin and thinning. Your Stevens and Wilmot, Giddings and Lovejoy, Seward, Chase, Hale, Sumner and other less known but not less faithful are gone. Those that remain daily grow more dear to me. Mr. Adams was one of the true and brave men of the early days of the conflict, and though we have not always thought alike upon the matters of mere policy and perhaps we do not now, I should be gratified to see him called into the public service by the Republicans of Massachusetts or by the National Administration.

While out of 400 persons buried at Camp Bowie only 18 died by natural causes—all the others being victims of savage butchery. This is a bloody record, but pronounced correct by Arizonans.—Denver Tribune.

The Salt Lake Tribune of May 2d, says: This road is advancing toward Idaho at the rate of a mile a day. It will reach its present destination Franklin, Idaho, during the week. Freight has already been shipped from Richmond, seven miles south of Franklin. Two car loads of grain, consigned to Mr. J. B. Meredith, of Salt Lake, was shipped on Monday last, the 27th, by Mr. James Sluter of Richmond. It is rumored that the line is to be extended to Carpenter's Station, Marsh valley, 40 miles further north, during the coming summer. This will not be built so cheaply as the present portion, the donation principle not being so popular as formerly.

A Remarkable Jury.—The champion jury has been so frequently found that the public begin to rank it with the universal life restorer, perpetual motion, the Christian statesman and other theoretical entities. We are non committal on this point, but think the American Continent at least will find it hard to beat a jury recently empaneled in Montreal. We are guarded because previous experience teaches that human stupidity crystalized in the jury box is practically unlimited. For the consolation of victims of the intelligent juror, we narrate the details of this modest effort at Montreal. A Montreal newspaper was defendant in a libel suit. For three days five of the most brilliant lawyers of Canada had addressed the jury, and these five wrote Q. C. after their name. The learned Judge had delivered a charge of unparalleled wisdom and lucidity. The law points were radiently clear. The facts in the case stood out in full relief. The twelve jurors sat solemnly in the jury box, the embodiment of human serenity, patience and abstraction. The jury retired with the Judge's charge and deliberated long and earnestly over it. They took their places on returning with the same gravity of manner. To the formal inquiry as to the defendant's guilt they responded in chorus. Some replied "guilty," some "not guilty," some "coupable," others "non coupable." There was evidently something wrong, and amid much laughter inquiries were made as to the intent of these twelve wise men. It then appeared that six of them could speak English, six of them could not understand a word of it. It further appeared that while the six Frenchmen did not pretend to know anything about the case at all, the other six didn't know who were the parties to the suit. The learned Judge insisted upon a verdict of some kind, and inquired whether the jury were agreed upon one. He was told that all except one were agreed, and he was about to discharge that remarkable jury when one pliant exception cordially remarked: "Eleven of the jury find the defendants guilty. I don't think they are, however I acquiesce," whereupon a verdict of guilty was entered against the defendants. It need not be added that the case was appealed. We confess a feeling of satisfaction over the case as being really the most remarkable possible. Anything about a jury less dignified and intelligent will be cordially welcomed. The South is invited to compete.—Chicago Tribune.

Colonel William P. Adair, a prominent Cherokee Indian, has been admitted to practice as an attorney in the Supreme Court of the United States. Nineteen years ago Adair began the practice of law in Arkansas. He is said to be a gentleman of handsome education, excellent ability and a leading citizen among his own people. He has served six terms of two years each in the Cherokee Senate.

From a private letter from Oregon City received yesterday evening, we make the following extract, showing that the feeling of independence of party organizations is growing stronger and more general every day:

The Independent movement is gaining ground steadily and quite rapidly. Every day or two some one of the most steady adherents of the two old parties come over and say they have seen enough of it.

Nilsson—Strakosch Benefit.—A New York dispatch of May 6th says: The absence of Nilsson from the Strakosch benefit last night notwithstanding she was offered $1,000 to sing excites comment, and is regarded as one reason why Strakosch's benefit was not so well attended as other benefits. The friends of Nilsson say she consented to a material reduction on her contract price for singing when there was no corresponding reduction to the public; also that Strakosch has had half the profits of benefit given already ostensibly to his artists.

THINK BEFORE YOU VOTE.

Portland, May 11, 1874.

To the Editor of the Oregonian:

Would you object, or more properly speaking, will you permit an Irish voter and Republican to ask a question or two and make an observation on them.

WHY WAS MR. S. F. MCCORMICK

defeated for the office of Treasurer? Irishmen who have heretofore in this county, acted with the Republican party would like to know. The reasons are understood, but the instruments who accomplished that work will deny their motives and cloak their actions with a larger effrontery and mock modesty. Innocent lambs in the clothing of wolves. Deceitful double faced hypocrites. I desire to name these gentlemen and I desire Irishmen to remember them when they come to vote in June. I desire them to remember them when they become aspirants for honors in the future. First Dan Malarkey, stand up sir. You have played on the good feelings and attempted to lead the Irish voters in the Republican party. Did you throw McCormick aside for a promise of a future vacancy in the Collectorship of this port? Was that the reason you sold out the man who has helped to make you and placed you where you are? You are marked from henceforth and the sinecure you hold now for services that are duly appreciated by those who understand how to reward such may slip from you after June, my boy. John P. Ward, the retiring, unobtrusive John, so quiet and sheepish looking, who don't know anything, oh no! but who would like to keep his hold on the rising Senator you know, whose tact at fixing combinations all holders of the Sheriff's office know full well, who knows how to feel the boys and arrange them so nicely, you know. John, keep your eye on the District Court in June, my boy, you know. Caywood, the champion of the fee-bill, you know, who don't want any Irish in his, you know, without brains, but money instead, would make things easy for the Ring, you know. Harris, the champion of a certain "established interest," as we all don't know but of which we hear often, you know the brains however of the outbursts and shapers of the spoils in this county as we tax payers all know, who will have a new story to tell on the first Monday in June as he will know, and would like some other Commissioner than an honest one like McCormick to audit our bills, you know, that the establishment may be fully maintained, you know. Lazy Bill Harris will take a walk, if those Irish he don't want you know, conclude that two and a half is not the motive and reason they can't vote you know. Fred Harbaugh, the illustrious Fred, made such by his generosity to the policeman Jake now in Washington, would run better than Mc, you know, as he is in favor of the crusaders, you know, and then organized the third Lodge of Know Nothings in this State, who will do just as Caywood and Harris may direct with the funds—make a joint-stock mutual admiration society with Ward and Malarkey as directors. Irishmen, I will let you know what these fellows are at and how they agree to disagree occasionally to throw dust in your eyes. And now consider how you will vote for the haters of your race and their secret aiders and abettors. I think not. Reflect and await further information.

AN IRISHMAN AND A TRUE REPUBLICAN.

The "Temperance Guard" of McMinnville on the 28th ult. passed resolutions very strongly expressing their sympathy and encouragement for the Crusaders of this city. We have received from the Secretary an official copy of the proceedings for publication, but press of matter crowds them out. TUESDAY MORNING MAY 12 1874

THE SUBSIDY PRINCIPLE.

Agreeably to what we suggested was the real cause of the Sacramento Union's severe criticism of the Independent movement in Oregon that paper comes out now with a direct attack upon the Portland Dalles and Salt Lake Railway enterprise The Union is not the friend of corporations So are not we It is their unreasoning enemy, which we are not, and which the Independent people of Oregon are not And it is particularly hostile to any corporation having for its object the building of a transcontinental railway that does not terminate in California Probably the Union is not aware how far this consideration affects its judgment in the premises, but there can be no doubt that it does affect it

At the back of all the opposition to the construction of this road, so essential to the growth and prosperity of Oregon, stand the managers of the Central Pacific, laughing in their sleeves at the zeal and efficiency with which a great anti corporation journal can engage in the very work in which, above all others they would most desire to have it engage in, namely, opposing every enterprise that will tend to break the grasp with which they hold the entire commerce of the Pacific coast Not half so well has any one of their subsidized organs ever served them as those journals now serve them which oppose the building of this Oregon branch of the Pacific road

Several times heretofore we have alluded to the sentiment of opposition to all Government subsidies to transportation enterprises, as a sentiment worked up by the transportation companies themselves A few years ago there was none found to speak against the principle of Government aid to the building of such railways as the agriculture and other industries of the country demanded for their proper development Almost the entire railway system of the United States has been built up on subsidies from States, counties, towns and the General Government The whole country received the action of the General Government in assisting to construct the Union and Central Pacific lines, with unqualified applause

Abuses have been practiced by the companies as they are always practiced by persons who have the legal power and great pecuniary temptation to practice them But these have not been chargeable to the act of Government subsidies or the principle of giving such aid, but to the fact that the subsidies have not been sufficiently guarded by legislation to prevent abuses. No one would think of questioning that laws could be so drawn as to protect the public just as thoroughly against the oppressions of roads built under subsidy as against those built without [illegible] demonstrates that it is not the [illegible] subsidy that has enabled the railway companies to become the masters of the people instead of their servants.

The railway tyranny naturally grew up with the growth of the railway power [illegible] ever increased with such amazing [illegible] during the years immediately [illegible] the civil war that for some time [illegible] the Legislatures and the courts [illegible] awe of it It was a new power, [illegible] to stand upon foundations peculiar [illegible] its own, denying the application of established legal principles to its government, and questioning the power of Legislatures, National or State, to put such [illegible] upon it as are put upon other [illegible] of capital for enterprises of [illegible] public character. A very large [illegible] of the people of the country, including about as large a proportion of the lawyers themselves as of any other class, when brought face to face with these arrogant pretensions, were thrown into a panic Of the few who perceived at once the emptiness of the claims of the corporations to be superior to the law, and who [illegible] that in the end the law would [illegible] and the corporations brought in subjection to legislation, some were [illegible] up by the corporations, directly [illegible] indirectly, and others stood silent [illegible] waited for the day of deliverance. So that those who did speak above their breath were so few as to be utterly powerless and were set down for croakers, for opposers of necessary enterprises, for selfish persons devoid of public spirit; So matters ran on for a while But the truth that was crushed to earth rose again and [illegible] the panicked people with fresh courage the selfish croakers were seen to be the friends of the people and the prophets of the future. The reaction was sudden and complete The paralysis of fear gave place to the fiercest activity of conscious strength The demand for protection against the oppressions of corporate power, the assertion of individual rights against combined force, the declaration of the superiority of civil authority to the wish of private corporations were echoed throughout the country with such emphasis as left no room for misunderstanding them

But the corporations are not so panicky as the people They do not scare They simply apprehend the danger comprehend the situation, and set about the work of preparing their defenses Seeing the tidal wave of popular sentiment too strong to be resisted they quickly went about directing it so it would do least mischief to themselves To divert the mind of the people as much as possible from the definite idea of subjecting the railway companies to legal control could be most easily accomplished by appearing to fall in with the popular clamor But the outcry must be not for reasonable regulation of the corporations but against railway corporations generally Oppose everything these companies want and the building of railways is at an end and the roads already built will enjoy their monopolies without the fear of competition The abuses of the corporations had put the public mind in just the attitude to make this diversion possible, and the companies have made and are making the most of it So the people are only [illegible] the will of the corporations when they cry out against any further subsidies The existing monopolies of course are opposed to further assistance to railway building New roads would bring competition, and competition is not monopoly This is the rationale of the tumult raised against Government aid to railways If the people would maintain their self possession and press their demand for more railways and for thorough control of those they already have they would help themselves far more effectively in their general prosperity and secure themselves far better against corporative tyranny

A FEW TEXTS

The Bulletin of yesterday quotes a large portion of the Epistle to Timothy and addresses it to Mr Davenport For instance

"O Timothy keep that which is committed to thy trust avoiding profane and vain babblings and oppositions of science falsely so called"

The allusion to profane and vain babblings we presume applies to Richard Williams' indecent stories and offensive black guardism But there is a part of the Epistle to Timothy which is not quoted by the organ of the bigamous Senator We request particular attention to this apostolic injunction

"Let the deacons be the husbands of one wife ruling their children and their own houses well"

We think the Bulletin may apprehend the meaning of the last clause as well as the first Moreover concerning the man who would be base enough to desert his legal wife and leave his children to poverty and starvation the Apostle says

"But if any man provide not for his own and especially for those of his own house he hath denied the faith and is worse than an infidel"

The Apostle adds "These things command and teach" Certainly Mr Davenport enforces these texts every time that he taxes Richard Williams with being a candidate on the Hipple resolution which sets the Word of God at naught It is to such as his profane antagonist perhaps that these words allude

"If any man teach otherwise and consent not to wholesome words

He is proud, knowing nothing but doting about questions and strifes of words whereof cometh envy strife railings evil surmisings

Perverse disputings of men of corrupt minds and destitute of the truth supposing that gain is godliness"

We believe the Scriptures were written for the edification of mankind Knowing nothing—about either finance bribery or corruption all of them being matters of common fame Doting about questions If it were almost any other book we should say doting was a misprint that it should read dodging about questions "Destitute of the truth" See Richard's audacious denial of what everybody knows to be true—that he lobbied for the passage of the bill for the purchase of the Locks "Supposing that gain is godliness" Witness Richard's bargain to make the canvass for $2,000.

Perhaps the Bulletin might find some Epistle that doesn't bear so heavily on its pets as does this to Timothy

THE COALITION

And still the evidence accumulates to prove the bargain between the managers of the two straightout parties to trade votes and elect Williams to Congress All around we hear men, who are supposed to be in the secrets of the Republican ring declaring that it is expected Williams will receive a very large number of Democratic votes and that if he should be elected, it will be by Democrat support. Now there is no Democrat that is going to vote for a Republican nominee for Congress against the regular candidate of his own party, unless he does so in persuance of a bargain, and the honest people of the party are not going into any such bargains If Dick Williams be elected to Congress by Democratic votes, it will be the carrying out of a trade in which the rank and file of the party are sold out

Let it not be forgotten how warmly the Bulletin, the ring organ of this city commended the coalition in Douglas county Here is the Bulletin's language

In Douglas county Republicans and Democrats who believe that it is a duty to oppose malcontent schemes and piracy in politics, have united on a ticket for members of the legislature and county officers Neither party gives up its principles or its organization Republicans and Democrats support their respective State tickets, and have united on a county ticket for a simple an intelligible and an avowed purpose. Nothing is concealed; all is done openly For several years the number of disappointed politicians hanging on the skirts of both parties in Douglas county has been increasing This year they have united in a common cause By artful and unprincipled leaders some good men have been carried into the "movement" and the managers have been claiming that they would carry the county To prevent such a result the Republicans and Democrats have united on a common ticket nominated in the interest of honesty and of political organization

LET THE TRUTH BE TOLD

In his speech last Friday night in this city Tim Davenport, the Spiritualistic candidate for Congress stated that Mr Williams the Republican candidate, had engaged in the campaign for $2,000 to be paid by his party Mr Williams promptly and emphatically pronounced the base charge a willful and absolute falsehood. And he retorted that such a brazen untruth came with bad grace from Davenport whose own brother had stated that he (Tim had not consented to make the canvass until not only his traveling expenses should be paid in full but that he must also be paid stipulated wages To this Davenport replied—not that it was not true but that his brother had never told Mr Williams any such thing Neither had he nor did Mr Williams say that he had what he did say was that Tim's brother had so stated but not to himself The dodge of Timothy will not answer Dare he deny that George Strong, of the OREGONIAN and L D Backenstos of the Independents of this city had an interview with him concerning his canvass of the State in which it was at first agreed that he should be paid a stated sum over and above his traveling expenses? Let Timothy answer, and categorically

The above is from Monday's Bulletin Let the truth be told Mr Davenport, Mr Backenstos and Mr Strong each and all authorize us to state that the insinuation of the Bulletin is absolutely and unequivocally false Moreover there was no other gentleman present during all the conversation that was had between Messrs Davenport, Backenstos and Strong by whom can be proved the falsity of the Bulletin's statement This is the [illegible] of journalism the ring relies upon to carry its points against the people of Oregon

IS IT A LIE, MR WILLIAMS?

In his speech at the Court House last Friday evening Mr Richard Williams Republican candidate for Congress said, alluding to the editor of the Daily News

"That editor propounded some questions to him and said he was [illegible] He never told a bigger lie in his life"

The quotation is from the Bulletin of May 9 We have taken some pains to get at the truth in this matter and on inquiry we are informed by a gentleman who in a way was qualified to know that the application of Richard Williams for a given amount of swamp land is now on file in the office of the Clerk of the Board for the sale of school lands etc More than that we are also informed by a person who was present on the occasion that when Mr Williams was in Salem one week ago last Sunday he was [illegible] with the [illegible] as it appeared on [illegible] of the Clerk

Under the law every citizen of Oregon has a right to get just as much swamp land as he may deem necessary in the pursuit of happiness Certainly Mr Williams can expect to gain nothing by such glaring and willful falsification of facts which are matters of record He is in the predicament of Caleb Cushing he has written too many letters

In [illegible] Mr Wood [illegible] corruption and stealing in the Federal service in New York and he has introduced a resolution directing the House Committee on Ways and Means to inquire whether any of the officers in the New York Custom House has absented himself from his office to visit the State Capital to influence or secure corrupt legislation and what [illegible] to secure such legislation officers in the Custom House have been promised to be given after the adjournment The abuse of which Mr Wood complains is not of recent birth The New York Legislature has for years past been manipulated by a lobby of Federal officials There are several other States having grievances of this kind Here in Oregon a good many people wouldn't believe it until the officials themselves cried "Peccavi" in the last Republican platform

The three candidates for Governor will speak this evening at the Court House If reports are to be relied upon the discussion will be highly interesting Campbell and Grover are both gentlemen of acknowledged culture and ability and they do say Tolman is infinitely funny He speaks a piece prepared for him by Ben Simpson and full of Ben's peculiar sort of wit Ben has a special spite at the editor of the OREGONIAN and is reported to have taken this opportunity to vent it by proxy A gentleman who witnessed Tolman's rendition of this particular passage in Ben's piece at Salem assures us that for concentrated bitterness it is actually grand From all accounts those who fail to witness the performance will miss a treat as there is but one Tolman and but one Ben Simpson and the talents of the two have never before been so well united as in the bill offered for to night By all means go

This little perturbation in the Republican household which has led thousands of voters in the West to renounce their allegiance to the party is getting to be infectious What will the organs of the putrid reminiscence known as Democracy say to this eulogy on Ben Butler taken from the editorial columns of the Cincinnati Enquirer

"Whatever men may please to consider Gen Butler's faults it is not disputed that he is one of the ablest and most clear sighted men in the nation and he commands respect by the frankness with which he gives his views, and the courage with which he defends them * * The business and laboring men of the country really owe Old Ben a debt of gratitude for the faithful manner in which he has led the friends of industrial and commercial relief in the House of Representatives

Who would have believed that the eccentric whirligig of Time could bring about such a revenge as this?

The reappearance of Mr James O'Meara as editor in chief of the Bulletin is a pleasant reprieve to readers of that paper Whatever may be said of Mr O'Meara's political heresies it can not be denied that he is a writer of ability and whatever may be said of Scott's capacity for figuring up Custom House stealings it can not be denied that he is an inferior type of the genus puddinghead We believe in special providences and this removal of Scott just as warm weather is coming on is certainly providential

GOOD SAMARITAN HOSPITAL.—The plans of this hospital, which is soon to be built under the supervision of Bishop Morris can now be seen on exhibition at the show-window of Gill & Co. The ground selected for the site of Good Samaritan Hospital is at the corner of Twenty first and I streets on the dividing line between the Couch and Balch claims about one-half mile northwest of the Bishop Scott Grammar School. According to the plans the hospital will consist of a main building and a wing. The main building will be [illegible] long and 27 feet wide. The wing will be 45 feet long and 27 feet wide. The building will be two stories high with a basement. On the first story there will be the surgeon's room, dispensary, matron, steward and store-rooms and rooms for private patients, together with the dining-room. The basement will probably be occupied by the laundry. The second story will contain two wards—a male and female—separated by a hall 10 feet wide, also bath rooms, lavatories, operating and reading rooms, water-closets etc. Both the ceiling of the wards and the rooms is high and abundantly supplied with light and ventilation through the roof. A very convenient mechanical contrivance will also be attached to the building by means of which patients can be hoisted from the first to the second story, or lowered in an easy and safe manner. A wide corridor extends entirely around the main building both in the upper and lower story. When completed the building will be surmounted by a dome which will light and ventilate the entries and stairways of the entire structure. The whole building presents a fine architectural appearance and will be an ornament to that part of the city. The plans have been prepared by Mr W. H. Williams the well known architect. Next Thursday evening at 5 o'clock the formal laying of the corner-stone of the hospital will take place. Bishop Morris will officiate, assisted by Bishop Hills of Victoria and other clergymen of the State.

SUBSCRIPTIONS.—Up to 4 o'clock last evening, the following subscriptions had been received by the First Ward Committee appointed last Saturday evening to canvass that portion of the city, for the purpose of raising funds which are to be forwarded to Col Chapman now at Washington to defray his expenses while endeavoring to secure the passage of the Portland Dalles and Salt Lake Railroad Bill pending before Congress:

The Committee in the First Ward propose to renew efforts to-day and intend to increase the amount of subscription to $1 500 if possible. From the other Wards of the city we have not heard but presume that the citizens are subscribing liberally. The several committees are requested to meet this (Tuesday) [illegible] at the office of J H Fisk on Stark [illegible] First and Second streets, to report at [illegible] o'clock sharp.

ACCIDENT.—A few days since Mr. F M [illegible] of the firm of Epperly & Lich[illegible] who keep a meat market at the corner of First and Clay streets, met with a severe accident. He was out at the slaughter house some distance from the city, and engaged in splitting down beef with a cleaver [illegible] the sharp instrument glanced [illegible] his left foot, inflicting a fearful [illegible] extending from the base of the little toe [illegible] and almost severing the foot [illegible] Mr Lichtenthaler was conveyed to [illegible] Dr Chapman hastily summoned [illegible] was dressed, and the man was [illegible] at last accounts. Last Saturday [illegible] o'clock a young man, while [illegible] along Thirteenth street fell [illegible] a distance of nearly 20 feet, and [illegible] in two places. He observed a [illegible] approaching, and stepping to one side in order to let him pass fell over the edge. The bones of the limb were set, and he will soon be able to resume duties.

EAST PORTLAND SCHOOL HOUSE.—Some of the [illegible] of East Portland are moving vigorously in the [illegible] of securing the erection of a more commodious building for the accommodation of their Public School. At a meeting [illegible] held, a committee was appointed to [illegible] the probable cost of constructing a new house of sufficient proportions. This committee having investigated the matter find that the cost of such building 40x60 feet two stories high will be about $5,500. The public money of the district, at the end of the year, will leave some $800 and a tax of 4 mills which the committee recommend will erect the house and finish it except inside work on the second story which could be postponed until another year. As the improvement is much needed a strong effort will be made at the next meeting of the voters to inaugurate it.

MISSING.—Says a late Victoria paper: G [illegible] Foster the clever ventriloquist, who is popularly known as the man with the talking hand, is missing from this hotel. It is feared that he has fallen into the harbor from one of the wharves. Mr Jester, it will be remembered, was here with Vivian some months ago.

TAMMANY DAY.

Among the Improved Order of Red Men today—May 12th—is Tammany's Day which is as strictly and faithfully observed each year by that Order as the Odd Fellows celebrate the 26th of April the anniversary of the introduction of that Order in the United States or our Irish citizens the 17th of March. According to the Order of Red Men Tammany or St Tammany was traditionally or symbolically the founder of the Order and is therefore its patron Saint. It is not known definitely whether the existence of Tammany was real or mythical but it is however supposed a great Sachem bearing that title lived at one time and was regarded by the North American Indian with a deep and superstitious reverence. To him was imputed the power of dispensing good and evil, averting calamities, to bestow wealth [illegible] miraculously save life or visit the dire vengeance on enemies. In fine this great [illegible] or mythical Sachem was the good or evil genius of the red men of the forest. The date of the birth of this extraordinary Chief is fixed on the 12th of May. During his natural [illegible] called Tammany by reason of the great attributes of powers and knowledge imputed to him held indisputable sway over the superstitions minds of the red men and at his death was placed Chief among the Indian gods.

The Improved Order of Red Men having its origin in the manners, customs habits, observances etc. of the North American Indians takes up the character of Tammany and symbolically places him as the patron Saint of the Order, and the [illegible] As the presiding deity of the Order it appears but natural and proper that the birth of such a great personage should be observed with appropriate ceremonies. For many years the Red Men have celebrated the advent into the world of this traditionary Sachem with picnic excursions music orations and various festivities.

OBJECT AND ORIGIN OF THE ORDER

The Improved Order of Red Men is a confraternity for the promulgation of principles of true benevolence and charity and for the establishment of friendly bonds among men. Its origin is, as the name clearly indicates purely American dating its history prior to the early days of the Revolution. Tradition points to Fort Mifflin on the Delaware river as the birth-place of the Order, and that about the year 1812 its first council fires were kindled. The stimulating cause which led to the organization of the Order grew out of the bitter animosity which had been engendered between the war and anti-war parties during those eventful years of our national history. It was during the year 1812 that some of the more influential and patriotic of the volunteers within Fort Mifflin viewing with apprehension the threatened consequences to their country and its free institutions of the powers of discord and sedition working among them proposed and effected among the soldiers of the garrison a secret society known as the Red Men fortified by signs grips and pass words, the object of which should be to dispel discord and encourage friendship.

The Red Men of the present day, however, are not prepared to limit the origin of the Society to as late a date as the war of 1812-15. There is in the records of the Order presumptive as well as cotemporaneous evidence that it originated at a much earlier day and it is probable that it took its rise during the Revolutionary war and that the origin attributed to the Society at Fort Mifflin may have been but the reorganization of pre existing fraternal elements by the volunteers for kindred purposes.

The sacred days of both the early and Improved Order of Red Men of to day are two—the 22d of February and the 12th of May. The latter was and is invariably observed as a feast. On the morning of this day all societies are expected to assemble at the door of their wigwams and from there decorated in the insignia of their rank and to the sound of music, march through the city and proceed to some rural spot within convenient distance where the day is spent in social intercourse games and smoking the calumet of peace and friendship.

The Order of Red Men is the oldest protective and benevolent society of American birth and growth. The secrecy of this Order consists in the idea that secrecy is right and proper in those matters which concern the private interests of a common family. Its name is chosen, as is above indicated, as expressive in the highest degree of its origin, and as peculiarly appropriate to a society which has a history co-equal with the history of the aborigines of the American continent. The Order receives within its folds all who are privileged to associate in daily life, and counts among its membership the natives of many climes and men speaking many tongues. Its emblems are drawn from nature alone and are symbolized in every scene upon which the eye may rest, and are all of the most beautiful and significant character.

In conformity with long established usages the Red Men of Portland proposed to celebrate Tammany Day with the usual exercises. But in view of the threatened inclemency of the weather the picnic has been postponed until Thursday 14th inst, when a grand time may be expected should the clerk of the weather only vouchsafe a bright pleasant day.

TEMPERANCE CIRCULAR.

The following circular is being distributed through the city very extensively. It is addressed to the Mothers, Wives, Sisters and Daughters of Portland and says:

We think it must be evident to you that God Has in a wonderfully clear manner pointed out to you a great and good work which He designs you to do.

In all this broad land there can hardly be found a family that has not suffered by the intemperance of some of its members. Certainly every one of you know of some unhappy family in this city whose happiness might possibly be restored by your personal efforts or through the combined influence of the women of this city.

The taste for liquor drinking has increased with such frightful rapidity in the last generation or two as to be a plain indication of what it will become in one or two generations more unless checked surely and at once. With this vice every other evil walks hand in hand—idleness, profanity, insensibility to family affections and to business interests, loss of proper principles, poverty, dishonor, disease, death!

So long had men been in personal contact with this abomination that even the best of them had become in a certain degree hardened to behold it without horror, and permit it without complaint. It had become interwoven with the business and politics of the country in so intimate a manner that they could see no way to disentangle themselves from it and were about to accept this curse of curses as a necessary evil.

But God in His wisdom, not meaning this nation to be sunken in degradation and wickedness put it into the hearts of women who had for so long a time suffered without redress the miseries of intemperance to importune Him for succor from their wrongs. As soon as they began to act upon this impulse one great wave of Christian sympathy and unity spread from the Atlantic to the Pacific and women who had never before taken an interest in public affairs sprang to the work with a will and a determination the equal of which the world has never seen.

Much good has already been done in Portland. If so much has been accomplished by the efforts of a few what may not be accomplished by the united efforts of all the good and true women of the city certainly we may hope for nothing less than a complete reformation. Other towns hearing of our success will be encouraged to carry on the work until our young and beautiful State shall be redeemed from its heavy burden of sin and shame [illegible] until happiness shall return to [illegible] and fire sides and purity [illegible] public places. Think for [illegible] what Portland might be were all its drinking saloons and other [illegible] swept out of existence.

[illegible] be dilatory or [illegible] the Lord [illegible] for as may be your own personal convenience and perform freely and [illegible] your individual share in this great and glorious work. Never probably will there be an opportunity of doing the same amount of good. Be sure that [illegible] will accompany your labors that you will be both happy and proud all your lives to have had a share in this noble work.

Let us all meet daily or as often as we can in the churches or in the most convenient place and work or pray, or sing encouraging each other—but presenting all the while one unbroken front to the enemy and giving him no rest until he surrenders. Do not wait. Come now and something will be found for you to do. Do what you [illegible] only come and show that you desire the great good that we are working for. By [illegible] come.

WOMAN'S TEMPERANCE PRAYER LEAGUE

THE PORTLAND, DALLES AND SALT LAKE RAILROAD.

[LETTER FROM D P THOMPSON.]

The following letter was written by D P Thompson, Esq of Oregon City to be read at the Railroad Meeting at Ankeny's Hall last Saturday night but was delayed. It is now furnished for publication:

OREGON CITY, May [illegible] 1874

[illegible] Esq—Dear Sir: In today's [illegible] I have seen that I am advertised to address the citizens of Portland on railroad matters. As you well know I am not a public speaker and all I have to say can be embodied in a few written words. I have watched the progress of the Portland Dalles and Salt Lake Railroad bill since it was first proposed in Congress. I have always believed that the necessary [illegible] could [illegible] push it through [illegible] proper exertions were made by the citizens of this State and Idaho Territory. All that has been done so far in Congress [illegible] Col Chapman who has been hard at work for the past two sessions of Congress. He has been doing all that he could do but there is a large amount of labor to perform. Statistics have to be prepared and explained to each member of Congress, maps have to be made and explained to members showing the feasibility of the route, the advantages to the Government must be shown by ascertaining how much money the Government pays out annually for transportation of U S Mails and army supplies over this route. All this must be presented to the members in such a way as to attract their attention and enlist their support.

To do this requires more persons at Washington and money is required to carry this out. The bill now before Congress can in my opinion be passed if the people of Oregon will give this support. There should be at least twenty thousand dollars raised here to defray the expenses of an effort to pass the bill. Some person well acquainted with the resources of Oregon who will collect information on all subjects that can have a bearing on the bill should be sent to Washington to aid Col Chapman in presenting these matters to members of Congress.

If the bill is reported by the committee should pass I think there is no doubt but that the road will be built. The Union Pacific Company are very friendly to the bill and will aid in the building of the road should they not offer to do so, however the Kansas Pacific Road that is now in operation from the Missouri river to Cheyenne would extend their road West to connect with this road and by doing so, would gain for us the support of St Louis and of all the roads that have their connections south of Chicago.

Let Oregon and more particularly Portland, do what ought to be done: send persons to Washington to aid in the passage of the bill, raise a sufficient amount of money to enable Col Chapman to pay legitimate expenses in presenting the reasons to members of Congress why they should support the bill and we have a fair chance for its final passage. With the Portland Dalles and Salt Lake road completed, or in fact any other road leading from the Eastern States to Oregon and we will double our present population in the first two years.

It remains to be seen whether the people here are willing to make an earnest effort in this direction.

Respectfully yours
D P THOMPSON

The Foremost Tonic of the Age.

A new path to health was provided for the sick, a new shield against disease was secured to the healthy when Hostetter's Stomach Bitters became the standard tonic of America. For nearly a quarter of a century this powerful and genial antidote to disease and the causes which produce it has been on its sanitary march, building up the feeble, helping nature to fight down every variety of ailment, soothing pain, promoting digestion, regulating the secretions, increasing the nervous vigor of the system, cheering the spirits, arresting premature decay, and not only prolonging life, but adding value to it by putting thousands of invalids in a condition to enjoy it. No volume ever published would be large enough to contain a history of the cases of dyspepsia, constipation, biliousness, intermittent fever, nervous debility and mental and physical prostration cured by this great vegetable invigorant, which not only [illegible] health, but [illegible] it from danger in the most unhealthy districts.

J B A Resiere, importer and dealer in Human Hair and practical Wig Maker and Hair Worker, has just returned from France with the finest and largest stock of Human Hair ever brought to this market, and is now ready to dispose of it at very low prices at his new store corner of Third and Alder streets, directly opposite the Postoffice. FURTHER NEWS FROM THE MINES.

We clip the following special correspondence from the Victoria Colonist which is dated Dease Creek, Alaska, April 11th:

I reached here the 21st of March. It was the hardest trip ever taken in this northern country and I am sorry I came so early—four months too soon. The country is covered with ice and snow. I have taken up two claims—one on Thibert's and one here. The miners are prospecting and find poor prospects. On Thibert's creek last week we sunk holes in different places and found nothing that would pay. We had to light fires and thaw out the dirt before we could sink. We have not prospected our claims on this creek. The claims taken up last fall are good.

This creek is taken off for [illegible] I [illegible] going out to prospect a new creek two miles from here [illegible] had to travel.

[illegible] Stikine river [illegible] year [illegible] hauling 200 pounds on a sleigh [illegible] snow up to my knees. Provisions are going to be scarce. I was [illegible] week [illegible] from Fort Wrangell to here. Some days we would make only one mile. We were several days in a snow storm [illegible] but the exertion of drawing the load [illegible] so that cold could not take any effect.

In addition to the above the same paper publishes the following extract from a letter from Cassiar bearing date of April 15th:

The formation of the country is that of a gold bearing one. He advises several friends (by name) to come up at once. His claim, lying between that of Georgio and Vicenzia Baronwitch will yield, according to prospect, from 5 to 10 ozs a day to the hand with rockers. He is confident that his claim will remunerate him for all the years spent in the country.

Here is another special to the Colonist from Port Wrangell under date of April 20th:

The river opened yesterday, and 200 men leave to-morrow for Buck's Bar in canoes. This is a smart little town, with 3 stores, 2 bakeries, 4 restaurants, 1 whisky mill and buildings enough to accommodate 400 or 500 men. King Lear owns the town and lets shelter at two bits per man per night. Provisions of all kinds are plentiful. Canoemen ask $10 per head to Buck's Bar.

Merchants are awaiting a reduction of freight and passage and the selection of a town site at the head of navigation, which steamers can reach at all stages of the water. The town will have to be located some distance below Buck's Bar.

A canoe load of discouraged miners arrived down yesterday. They are swearing vengeance against the country. They did not pass Buck's Bar and left after consuming their provisions and came back disheartened. So much for an early start to the diggings.

I have just met Drs Theakstone and Moore. They are doing a rushing business—the first named as physician and surgeon and the last as druggist.

One of the Otter's passengers dislocated his shoulder blade while descending a ladder. Dr Theakstone set the shoulder and the man is all right again.

A gentleman who left this city about ten days ago promised to send the OREGONIAN a letter occasionally giving all the news possible in relation to the mines in a fair and impartial manner. We expect to hear from him in a few days.

PARTING

If thou dost bid thy friend farewell
But for one night though that farewell may be
Press thou his palm with thine How canst thou tell
How far from thee

Fate or caprice may lead his feet
Ere that to-morrow comes Men have been known
To lightly turn the corner of a street
And days have grown

To months, and months to lagging years
Before they looked in loving eyes again
Parting at best is underlaid with tears —
With tears and pain

Therefore lest sudden death should come between
Or time or distance clasp with pressure true
The hand of him who goeth forth unseen
Fate goeth too

Yea find thou always time to say
Some earnest word between the idle talk
Lest with thee henceforth ever night and day
Regret should walk

DECISIONS IN U S CIRCUIT COURT BY JUDGE SAWYER

In the United States Circuit Court, District of Oregon

Failing vs. Stark.—Before Sawyer and Deady J J

SAWYER, Circuit Judge

This is a bill in equity to restrain the defendant from prosecuting an action to recover the north half of lot 5 in block 27, in the city of Portland and to procure a conveyance of the legal title The general facts are the same as those fully set out in Starr v Stark No 62 except that the first conveyance by which the possessory title passed out of the general claimants of the Portland Land Claim was by Coffin, Lownsdale Chapman Hastings and Baker, to J T Hobbs & Co, Hastings & Baker claiming some interest subordinate to Chapman This deed bears date March 14, 1850 and is therefore, one of the lots sold in Lownsdale absence and is embraced in the modified contract considered in Starr v Stark As to the questions discussed in Starr v Stark the equities in this case are in all particulars as strong as in that case, if not stronger The testimony of Stark himself, given in another matter, was introduced in this case, and he nowhere in this testimony denies that he acquiesced in the modifications to the agreement of March 1, between him self and Lownsdale, made by Chapman and Coffin He states that Coffin and Chapman ratified the agreement with the modifications and that he went into the undisputed possession in accordance with that agreement The plain inference from his own testimony is that he acquiesced in it He nowhere in his deposition denies Couch s authority It is perfectly clear from all the testimony that he did accept the modifications made by Coffin and Chapman and acted upon them as valid If he expected any money consideration after the modification as to lots sold subsequent to January 1 1850, he evidently looked to Lownsdale individually for it and not to Coffin and Chapman If he did not obtain it, it was a matter between him and Lownsdale personally There is no defense of res adjudicata set up in this case

The only other questions arise on defects in the mesne conveyances Without discussing them in detail suffice to say that a valuable consideration was always paid, and the actual possession passed and continued in the several purchasers with the acquiescence and without any subsequent claim on the part of the vendors and enough appears to show that the equitable title of the various intermediate holders from Lownsdale Coffin, Chapman, &c became fully vested in complainant

Let a decree be entered in favor of complainant in pursuance of the prayer of the bill with costs.

LORENZO SAWYER,
Circuit Judge

Deady District Judge dissented on the second point indicated in his dissent in the case of Starr v Stark, No 62.

J D Shattuck for Complainant
W W Page for Defendant

U S Circuit Court—District of Oregon

Starr v Stark. No 119. Before Sawyer and Deady, J J

SAWYER Circuit Judge.

This action embraces lot 3 in block 81 and is in all respects similar, and as to the litigated points was submitted on the same evidence as the case of Starr v Stark, No 62 just decided except that the lot in this case was not embraced in the former action, the decree in which was claimed to be a bar in the other case. The proceedings in the former action, however are set up and claimed to be a bar in this case on the ground that the same questions were or might have been directly litigated in that action between the same parties, and that the decree is as conclusive in this case as in the other There can be no doubt I think that the decree upon the title actually litigated and determined in that case—the title derived through the patent to the city—is conclusive in this action But there can certainly be no ground for holding it conclusive upon matters not in issue and not litigated or determined, whatever may be the effect of that decree upon the title to the lots actually involved in the decision The land in question here is a different subject matter and the parties are certainly not bound to litigate all their rights to this lot in an action about another lot although the various claims of title to that and other are the same If the parties do in fact litigate the entire title in issue and it is determined the determination will be conclusive But I know of no authority which goes so far as to sustain the position taken by defendant s counsel in this case

The other questions are precisely the same as those discussed in Starr v Stark, No 62, and upon the authority of that case there must be a decree for the complainant in pursuance of the prayer of the bill with costs and it is so ordered

LORENZO SAWYER,
Circuit Judge

Bacon v Stark—Before Sawyer and Deady J J

SAWYER, Circuit Judge

This action embraces the south half of lot 4 in block 81 and is in all essential respects similar to the cases of Starr v Stark, just decided and was submitted on the same testimony so far as the litigated points are concerned, except that in this case it is not pretended that the former action is a bar to complainant Bacon s action On the authority of Starr v Stark a decree must be entered for complainant with costs, and it is so ordered

THE WASHINGTON DISTRICT RING—RICH DEVELOPMENTS.—A Washington special says that in the investigation yesterday Clephane, President of the Metropolis Paving Co was present with the books of the company which he was compelled much against his will to exhibit to the committee It appeared from the books that the company consisted of 17 stockholders, of whom 12 were available for assessment, and 3 were deadheads The capital stock represented was $200 000 divided into shares of $100 each Ten per cent of the capital was all that was ever called in Crosby Noyes deadhead editor of the Evening Star is credited with 25 shares S H Kauffman—deadhead—President and Business Manager of the Evening Star Co 25 shares William J Murtagh proprietor of the National Republican 25 shares on which it appears he paid his assessment like any other stockholder The remainder of the stock was divided between Clephane C C Chaffee, Samuel P Morey brother of the late Mayor John O Evans, Speer Tabbyist Samuel Young brother in law of Gov Shepherd and others Samuel E. Morey had 100 shares which were deadheaded to him The company declared a dividend of 400 per cent on the paid up capital, or $80,000 on $20 000 capital, and then dissolved, members who had been doing the work getting tired as Evans tersely put it, of carrying the deadheads

A SUGGESTION.

A NEW MANUAL FOR THE NATIONAL CONGRESS

It has occurred to me (and before I begin any agitation on the subject I should like to have your opinion) that the substitution in the parliamentary customs of Congress of what might be called descriptive epithets for this worn out form would be an improvement on the present practice. Instead of beginning with the invariable sameness now characterizing debates the [illegible] gentleman from [illegible] Mr [illegible] and [illegible] and then startling [illegible] by the pungency and [illegible] to the [illegible] of the members ears thus opening the way for the [illegible] Would it not be better and more in harmony with the generally candid and frank spirit of the debates to refer to the member by some description which would not be so confusing to the mind and which would fix the attention of the assembly more certainly upon him If this change were made we might have critical manuals of debates reported in this way

Mr —— —Mr Speaker I rise to a personal explanation—if the bounty jumper from Maine will allow me five minutes of his time—

The Speaker—The cadet-broker from South Carolina rises to a personal explanation

Mr —— I rise, sir to allude in a few brief remarks to an occurrence which took place on the floor of this House a few days since when it was publicly stated here on this spot that a venerable gentleman whom it is unnecessary for me to refer to more particularly is engaged in a conspiracy to defraud the revenue of the United States Sir I wish to hurl back that slander and to denounce its author—the forger from New York—as wanting in those qualities of gentlemanliness and truthfulness which ought of right to be the characteristics of every member of this House

The Speaker—Has the cadet broker from South Carolina finished his personal explanation?

Mr —— Mr Speaker—

The Speaker—The question before the House is—

Mr ——, If the bounty jumper from Maine will yield me three minutes—

The Speaker—Does the bounty jumper yield?

Mr —— I yield to the forger from New York for three minutes

Mr —— I rise, Mr Speaker to denounce the—

The Speaker—The question before the House is whether the amendment to House Bill No. 111 (introduced by the ballot stuffer from Illinois) limiting—

Mr —— Mr Speaker—

The Speaker—The bankrupt from Rhode Island has the floor

Mr —— Mr Speaker I yield to the boss thief from Massachusetts

Mr —— I only desire to say that the claim or raised by the newspapers—

Mr —— Mr Speaker I move we now adjourn

The Speaker—It is moved by the Senator bidder of California that we adjourn Is the motion seconded?

Mr —— Mr Speaker I second the motion

The Speaker—The motion to adjourn is seconded by the Informer from New York All in favor of the motion—

Mr —— It has been just whispered to me by the Monopolist from Pennsylvania—

The Speaker—The jury rigger from Nevada is not in order. A motion to adjourn is before the House. (Motion put but not carried)

(Cries of question question)

The Speaker—The question before the House is on the adoption of the amendment to the House Bill No. 111 (introduced by the ballot stuffer from Illinois) limiting the currency to two thousand eight hundred and ninety eight millions nine hundred—

But it is unnecessary to carry out the idea any further

The introduction of descriptive epithets or appellatives would have the further advantage that the analysis of the vote which is always made after an important crisis in our parliamentary history occurs would really exhibit better the character of the voting At present the vote is analyzed by dividing the members into Democrats and Republicans—a classification which does not really tell us anything more about the matter than a division by the color of the eye or hair But if we had an analysis founded on such a classification as I have ventured here to suggest we should always know exactly "who is who" We should see the complexion of votes not by the manner in which it affected the creed of obsolescent parties, but by the way in which it affected monopolists, corruptionists, bribe takers, forgers, "dead beats" informers perjurers, "cadet-brokers" sneak thieves and all the classes at present engaged in the work of governing our dear, dear country

Yours, for candor and reality

A PROGRESSIVE MAN

GRAND S-PECULATION.

Last March a case was tried in the Vice Chancellors Court at London which shows how certain things are done even in that stern old city.

In the latter part of 1871 an American gentleman, Mr Ashbury Harpending came to England for the purpose of selling certain mines in Nevada He called these treasures the Mineral Hill Mines and he represented that they were so rich that more than £20 000 worth of silver ore lay on the top of the ground A Mr T Doulton introduced Mr Harpending to Mr. Alfred Grant—he who is now Baron Grant, M P for Kidderminster and Lord of Leicester Square Mr Grant agreed to do the business and he formed a company called the "California Mining Company," with a capital of $1 000 000 But the only shareholders and directors in this company were seven clerks in the employ of Mr Grant One was the President another the Secretary another the Treasurer, and the other four were directors. This great company was duly registered, and on the 14th of May 1871 an agreement was entered into between it and Mr Harpending for the purchase of the Mineral Hill mines for the sum of £230 000 which was very cheap considering that silver ore to the value of £200,000 was on the top of the ground and probably millions below it This sale was dated back to the 20th of February Mr Grant then formed another company called "the Mineral Hill Silver Mining Company," for the purchase and working of the property which the California Mining Company had acquired. On the 21st of June the property which had been purchased on the 14th of May for £230 000 was sold to this second company for £480 000—one half in cash and one half in fully paid up shares Mining engineers had been sent out who reported that the mines were nil but they soon turned out to be quite worthless and the new company is now being wound up But Mr Doulton had been promised by Mr Grant a reward for introducing Mr Harpending to him and Mr Doulton in his turn had promised to give to a Mr F Smith one half of what he got from Mr Grant over $4 000 Mr Grant paid Doulton £5 000 then £3 000 and then gave 1,000 shares in Mineral Hill but meanwhile Doulton and Smith had quarreled and Smith served Doulton with a notice that one half of these payments belonged to him The notice was served before the money was paid but Doulton now died The Vice Chancellor ruled that the claim was a good one and that Grant must pay the money over again—[illegible] with interest at four per cent The point which is worthy of your attention is the peculiar manner in which such financiering as this is done To buy a worthless piece of property for £230 000 and to sell it again for £480 000 within five weeks, is not a bad thing,—except for the buyers

A BRILLIANT BEGGAR.—The language it has generally been a characteristic of persons who are said to live by their wits—that is to say, on other people; but it is only occasionally that the professional beggar of the rougher kind adds to volubility grace and purity of speech One of the exceptions proving this rule is a mendicant who haunts Printing house Square His diction is really remarkable and his pronunciation is better than that of one half of our educated people The story of his wrongs and mishaps concludes with this flourish of Johnsonianism "The smallest donation will be thankfully received by the applicant A man who can shed the lustre of such dignity and modesty on the business of begging ought not to be left unprovided for He would be an ornament to any profession"—[illegible]

A special from Washington says

The Committee of Ways and Means have finally agreed upon a [illegible] bill and [illegible] the Sanborn contract All moieties to officers are abolished and other informers [illegible] receive more than [illegible] of the article [illegible] and in no case more than $5 000 An exact [illegible] of [illegible] by the Secretary of the Treasury who is required to make a full report in each case to Congress. Hereafter intent to defraud must be shown and judgment is not to be given upon proof of a mere technical violation of the regulations

The supply of loanable funds in our local market is still quite ample and borrowers find much less difficulty in securing accommodations when they offer prime paper The loans upon real estate security are not so brisk as upon other securities The terms upon which the $50 000 loan was effected at two of our city banks last week indicate the supply for such purposes to be in excess of what it was a few months ago when nothing of the kind could have been done at less than 1 per cent per annum

The general aspect of trade is quite encouraging, and though the volume may have been larger in other seasons the aggregate cash business has been of greater proportions than ever before

Our Best Customer.

The best customer which the United States has is Great Britain Her demand is one which is immensely large and always steady England and her colonies say an exchange takes three fourths of our leather one third of our tobacco [illegible] per cent of our wheat [illegible] of our flour 90 per cent of our corn and three fourths of our cotton crop paying for the last item alone £70 000 000 She takes moreover 63 per cent of our hams and bacon 80 per cent of our beef 90 of our pork 80 per cent of our lard and 90 for cheese the total amount paid by her for these products last year being some £[illegible] 000 000. The rapid expansion of the export trade to the Continent will probably soon vary the proportions

The stock of flour and grain at Liverpool on the 31st of March compares as follows with the stock there at the close of the previous quarter:

	December 31	March 31
Flour bbls	[illegible]	[illegible]
Flour sks	[illegible]	[illegible]
Wheat, qrs	[illegible]	[illegible]
Barley	100	[illegible]
Malt		400
Oats	300	[illegible]
Corn	52 700	[illegible]

The great increase is accounted for in part by the fact that the stock in December was much smaller than usual at the end of the year The imports it is also well known, are much greater during the first quarter of the calendar year than in any other quarter

Oregon Wheat.

So important an article in our exports as wheat has now become deserves more attention than it has heretofore been paid it in many respects. The Minnesota farmers and grain dealers have made arrangements by which wheat raised in that State will be sold on its merits All the wheat arriving at Chicago from Minnesota is to be kept separate from that received from other States Experimental shipments of Minnesota wheat direct to New York have resulted in establishing an advance in price over wheat raised in other sections and the raisers in this feel that they are entitled to the distinction We are quite confident in the truth of our assertion that for about one half of the products of real merit, such as wheat and wool which she ships Oregon does not get the credit and we would call attention to the matter that some steps may be taken to secure a recognition of the meritorious quality of some of our products especially wheat and wool It can be done at comparatively trifling cost and would be a gain of thousands to the producers and shippers Let Oregon wheat be known everywhere it is sold as Oregon wheat and we need have no fears that it will always command the top of the market

Salmon Fisheries

The importance of the salmon fisheries of our coast as a general thing, has not been overestimated but from a gentleman engaged in the business on the Columbia river we learn that an estimate made by the editor of the [illegible] and which we copied last week was too large by far and that [illegible] 000 lbs as the catch of the season on the Columbia would be much nearer the correct figures than [illegible] 000 lbs as before reported These figures are certainly encouraging when we consider that the enterprise is almost in its infancy

The salmon catching season on the Columbia closes about the 1st of July but we are informed by Mr E Hammond who resides at Port Madison and carries on a fishery that the season on Puget Sound continues from three to four months longer Mr H tells us that the salmon of Puget Sound are of four or five varieties some of them being of the most highly valued species There can be but little doubt that the market of the world could be supplied from this part of the Pacific coast with the investment of the requisite capital

THE CENTENNIAL DEBATE

WASHINGTON May 7—The House went into Committee of the Whole on the Centennial [illegible]

Garfield opposed the bill and argued against the assumption that the national honor was pledged to support the International Exposition, and declared that on the contrary Congress had carefully guarded against committing itself. He expressed the opinion that the Exposition would be a failure in any event that it was an inappropriate day for such an exposition that July 4 1876 ought to be celebrated throughout the country but not in the way proposed by the bill

Dawes argued against the bill on the score of economy and said that [illegible] of the public debt [illegible] was $[illegible] 000 [illegible] pledged for [illegible] Sinking fund the present year He [illegible] so troubled [illegible] involved in a [illegible] attention to the fact that that pledge [illegible] the world

Hawley of Connecticut interrupted Dawes asking excitedly why the Chairman of the Ways and Means Committee [illegible] tax bill if the country was [illegible]

Dawes replied tauntingly that Hawley appeared with a show bill in one hand and a tax bill in the other

Randall and Luttrell spoke in favor of the bill, and Hawley of [illegible] the same side He reviewed the action of Congress and the Executive to prove that the Government was [illegible] the international character [illegible] and drew a sarcastic picture of the Secretary of State in the event of the [illegible] of the bill, excusing the Yankee Congress from [illegible] its pledges He attacked Dawes on the subject of the alleged deficiency of $2 [illegible] 000 and demanded to know why he was afraid to bring in a tax bill to make good the deficiency and protect the national honor He closed with an eloquent appeal to the members to seize the opportunity to renew and strengthen the bonds of union between the North and the South and show to the world a united and prosperous nation

The question was then taken on ordering the bill to a third reading and it was rejected yeas [illegible] nays 138

Nearly all the Western members voted in the negative Houghton Luttrell and Kendall voted in the affirmative Page and Nesmith in the negative

Hale of Maine moved [illegible] the vote, and to lay that motion on the table The latter motion was [illegible] [illegible] votes necessary [illegible] the bill being secured by the personal efforts of the Pennsylvania members [illegible] the [illegible] was then carried [illegible] Pennsylvania member [illegible] recommit the bill [illegible]

Beck moved to [illegible] Rejected

Hale of Maine [illegible] the bill, but pending [illegible] was carried
